

It would be one thing for the FCC to tax Internet providers another for them to allow Internet providers to pass on taxes to Internet customers and consumers when they send/receive text messages.