Re: CC Docket 03-123

Dear Secretary Dortch,

Pursuant to Federal Communications Commission rule 64.604(c)(1)(ii), on July 2, 2012, AT&T timely filed its annual summary of complaints, but inadvertently omitted information regarding the total number of interstate relay calls by type. AT&T supplements its initial filing by providing the total number of calls by type for the period of June 1, 2011 through May 31, 2012.<sup>1</sup>

Service Type
Interstate Traditional TRS
Interstate Speech-to-Speech (STS)
Captioned Telephone Service
IP Captioned Telephone Service
IP Relay
Video Relay Service <sup>2</sup>

Pursuant to Section 0.459 of the Commission rules, AT&T requests confidential treatment of this information because it is exempt from disclosure under FOIA exemption 4. This information involves telecommunications relay service provided by AT&T in competition with other relay

<sup>1</sup> Total calls does not necessarily reflect completed calls or calls that were submitted to the iTRS Fund Administrator for reimbursement providers, including Internet Protocol telecommunications relay services. IP TRS businesses are competitive businesses, and AT&T's IP Relay Service offerings are subject to significant competition. The presence of such competition and the likelihood of competitive injury threatened by release of the information should compel the Commission to withhold the information from public disclosure. This information is not customarily released to the public, is maintained on a confidential basis, and is not ordinarily disclosed to parties outside the AT&T. Disclosure would subject AT&T to competitive harm.
