

Phone call to Albuquerque Police department from red phone at customer service counter at target did not go through to dispatch center from Target next to this best buy at Hotel Circle after attempting return of Asus TF700 with docking station. Two woman returned the items and one of the woman said that they can't give me the receipt for the return of the computer. They didn't give me the original receipt for the purchase. The number on the back of the debit card did not produce an answer from the bank from the phone at the place of the purchase of the Asis computers or at the nearby customer service phone at Target. A APD police officer walked towards the back of the store and left the store not long after I made the purchases (in SUV #186) if I remember correctly. I thought that the disk brakes on my bicycle had been damaged (probably during the purchase (which was made at the same counter as the returns today).

Thank You,
