

Let me mention that our tv set has a cc button on the remote, but we can only get closed captioning through the u-verse dvr, and that requires 22 button pushes.

Let me suggest that the rules for turning cc on and off should be a single button that toggles cc or at most two button pushes. Toggling it on and off is quite different from setting the manner in which cc is displayed (though u-verse mixes the two). I see no problem with going through menus to set the display.

Thanks again,

Erik Rosenthal