

My comment related to Softbank purchase of Sprint. I see a real opportunity for the consumers for a better price competition on the cellular communication market. Other companies has built an advantage by acquiring other companies and now will oppose to others doing the same. I definitely are in favor of the purchase of Sprint, while was in opposed to ATT buying Tmobile which would have increased ATT's domain. Thank you.