

I am writing as a private citizen to express my opinion that changing FCC regulations concerning media consolidation would be a serious mistake. The FCC should not permit ever fewer corporations to control ever more of the media which disseminates news and information within local markets. This leads to a concentration in the hands of people like Rupert Murdoch, whose organization is under suspicion of fraudulent behavior overseas, to increase their political power and influence over the American electorate. This is a disaster on its face.