

I love your new act on loud commercials...thank you. Most stations I watch are great, no need to grab the remote when commercials come on. I watch CNN often, through Time Warner. They still have some loud commercials and when they go to a commercial break they play some loud music. I play music so I'm a good judge of sound. When I have to grab the remote, when going to a commercial, that is my measurement method.

Please look into this.

Thank you from all of us.
