

I would like to voice concern and disgust in the planned airing in the Spring of the show "All My Babies Mamas." This show will bring nothing of worth to the viewing audience, will portray ignorance on a massive scale and just shows how far some people will go to make a buck. The cast should be ashamed and any sponsors should be as well. It just goes to show that people rely less on knowledge and real talent and others aren't interested in producing quality shows and that they too lack talent and imagination and are all too willing to throw junk onto the airways for viewing.
