

It seems pretty stupid to have the requirement to "give out" ones social security number and other identifying information, that is then stated to be "available" for a specific time BEFORE any DO NOT CALL requirements are officially in place.... There's an open door to anyone for that specific time before the DO NOT CALL requirements are officially enforced.