

My son was in the Army and died on January 28, 2011. I was shocked when I joined Facebook this week and saw my son still listed as a valid user. I attempted to find out why he is still showing up and the picture is my dead son. I was blocked by the application for an unknown reason from adding friends. I had attempted to add my son so I could see who or why he's still on this application. It is heart wrenching and I am so upset, I may find an attorney.
