

Hello, In regards to WUVM-LP's license renewal. WUVM is a low power analog station on the low VHF 4 frequency. As a viewer it was my understanding that low VHF would be used for emergency responders so I am wondering why this station has not converted to digital? I believe this station has no intentions of converting to digital and making more use of the public airwaves because it is content with its status on pay TV due it being a must have spanish language channel. I'd like to at least see this channel be required to commit to upgrading its equipment and signal to digital for the over the air viewers that cannot afford pay tv and that are using digital converter boxes which will not receive analog channels. I am sure that many spanish language viewers would agree.

Thank you
