

Please, please, please accept Chairman Genachowski's proposal to make free WiFi available to everyone. I can only see tremendous good coming from this. It shows so much forward thinking and will develop into something totally wonderful for all the people. Just think of the tremendous push this will give to education and learning at all levels. The US ranks very low on Internet access, and speed, compared to other countries. This proposal can only help. For profit companies have complained that they want the spectrum, but highly innovative businesses will quickly find a way to generate profits while still serving the people.

Please, make this happen!
