

FCC's RF/microwave exposure limit is outdated, based solely on thermal effects. Thousands of studies including those conducted by the US Military have confirmed that non-thermal biological effects, including mostly adverse effects on humans and animals, exist. FCC must STOP this obsolete thermal standard, or you are ruining the health of the entire population, especially children. Microwave and RF, even at low levels, harm brain cells, the blood brain barrier, the heart, thyroid, the eyes and causes oxidative stress to the entire physiological system. USA is BACKWARDS in the regulation on RF right now. Please follow the EU and Council of Europe recommendations by lowering the exposure limit to minimal to reflect protection over biological effects, AND promote "as low as reasonably achieved" exposure levels, to protect everyone in this country, including yourselves, your families and your own children!
