

I live in an area that's known for it's visual attractions,

New York New York, Eiffel Tower, and among other things - pigeons.

My concern stems from sitting on a lawn while feeding pigeons and noticing orange like dots moving across my body. I then realized that the orange dots came from the pigeons eyes.

With various other luminescent colors tucked under their wings -

Is their a bigger price we are paying for wireless other than the upfront 100 dollars for an iphone?