

My name is Daniel. The FCC forced me to purchase a new television set based on the promise of more free over-the-air channels. And the cable provider continues to over charge for tv service, so I installed an antennae. Well the options for content and signal are amazing, so many foreign lanngauge based programs. Do not shut down my local LPTV station. I want more free channels, not less. The distribution for content is obviously targetted to developing foreign language markets, but you are turning away bigger markets of traditional american english speakers by not getting content developers opportunities to keep the local providers viable. Low-power TV stations that have operated in good faith and have complied with their license should be protected and kept on the air. Those who have been pure speculators need to drop out, for they have been nothing better than "scalpers" Opportunities for local content need to have channels for distribution supported, and quality content development and airing provided long term advantage with benefits. Not a hand out, just some guaranties protecting them from the cable monopolies you are supporting. Do the right thing! Thank you.
