Comment: As a dedicated Christian living in Sanford), I am concerned about the future of the many Christian low power television broadcast stations positively influencing our nation and our hometown. Our local LPTV station must be protected. As a Christian, I am concerned that any loss of LPTV service will mean a reduction in the availability of broadcast content that brings hope and positive values to our daily life. I believe the Christian message is important because everyone needs to know what true Christianity is, and to learn of our Savior, Jesus Christ. Most often, the cable and network television channels fail to represent my Christian values in their content. We want the future of Christian TV broadcasting to be protected because its a matter of eternal life or hell. Please do not permit Christian voices to be silenced through the loss of LPTV stations as a result of the planned auction or repack. Low-power TV stations that have operated in good faith and have complied with their license should be protected and kept on the air.

Comment: As a dedicated believer in God and Jesus, His son, living in Williamstown, WV, I am concerned about the future of the many Christian low power television broadcast stations positively influencing our nation and our hometown. Our local LPTV station must be protected. As a believer, I am concerned that any loss of LPTV service will mean a reduction in the availability of broadcast content that brings hope and positive values to our daily life. I believe the Christian message is important because it brings hope to mankind. Most often, the cable and network television channels fail to represent my Christian values in their content. I am a retired physician and having the availability of programming with the Christian viewpoint is important. As studies have shown, faith and belief in God is important in the healing of the body. We want the future of Christian TV broadcasting to be protected because it represents an important viewpoint of those of us who may be considered a minority (at this time). Comment: I'm Jim Heard from Homer Glen, IL, I appreciate the opportunity to watch free over-the-air television made available through low power television stations. I have been told that the FCC may force low power stations off the air. The FCC must protect our local stations. There are programs that my family and I enjoy that are unavailable through other sources. Free TV is safe TV. As A Christian Home School Family we believe that many Cable programs are not desirable for my family to watch. Some shows we enjoy are only available to us over-the-air through my local station. I should not be forced, nor will I pay for cable, satellite or fiber to watch TV. There are now many free TV stations available with a simple antenna. Please do not take any of those free stations away. Low-power TV stations that have operated in good faith and have complied with their license should be protected and kept on the air.

Comment: Greetings:

I am writing with respect to the community low power television stations that broadcast to Fort Collins, Cheyenne and other communities nearby and indeed nationally. Because of my profession, I am painfully aware that the FCC may auction spectrum currently licensed to operating LPTV stations nationwide. Please do not force LPTV broadcasters and TV translator licensees off the air. I am an engineering consultant to numerous LPTV, Class A TV and translator stations in the US and some of its possessions. I appreciate the broadcast services of all, as they allow programming which, while it may not support large, wealthy TV networks, is programming needed by many small communities in the US... often communities that have NO cable TV delivery. I would ask that you do not reduce the affordable services that are currently available to our community and many others through the many local independent LPTV stations and TV translators. Low-power TV stations and TV translators that have operated in good faith and have complied with the terms of their licenses should be protected and kept on the air; additionally, they support a large community of operators, consultants, engineers and technicians whose employment may be at risk as a part of such an auction procedure. Think of small business and the many jobs and services it provides.

Thank you very much.

Comment: Freedom of speech means nothing unless the small guy has the means to reach people by all media. Local television allows communities to interact and share concerns both local and national.

It also guarantees localized companies to compete on the same broadcast level as big corporations do in their own marketplace.

Comment: My name is Susan Bartels. My family and I live in Dallas County, Texas. Because of the FCC-forced changeover to digital broadcasting, we purchased a new HD television set and outfitted our other televisions with converter boxes. We have a limited income and appreciate the opportunity to watch free over-the-air television made available through low power television (LPTV) stations. We have come to understand that if the FCC makes spectrum available to be auctioned, some LPTV broadcasters may be forced off the air and not compensated for the loss of their station. The FCC, which granted these stations their licenses, should also honor the terms of those licenses, protecting our local LPTV stations. There are LPTV programs that my family and I enjoy that are unavailable through other sources. Several times we have been contacted by telemarketers from a company possibly seeking to build up a monopoly (something from which the FCC should be protecting us), alerting us that our neighborhood now has fiber optics...and wouldn't we like 250 channels for what we're now paying for internet? No. Among those 250 channels, there are perhaps four or five that might interest us. We have jobs and other concerns; our lives do not revolve around TV. We should not be forced into a situation where we have to pay for cable, satellite or fiber optics to receive TV programs we will not watch, whose content we do not appreciate, when previously we could receive programs we enjoyed by means of a simple antenna from free TV stations. Please do not take any of those free stations away. It is the FCC's duty to protect and keep on the air low-power TV stations that have operated in good faith and have complied with their license.

Comment: My name is Emma Weiss. I appreciate the opportunity to watch free over-the-air television made available through low power television stations. I have come to understand that the FCC may make spectrum available to be auctioned, and some LPTV broadcasters may be forced off the air. The FCC must protect our local LPTV station. There are programs that my family and I enjoy that are unavailable through other sources. Free TV is safe TV. Many Cable programs are not safe for my family to watch. Some shows we enjoy are only available to us over-the-air through my local LPTV station. I should not be forced to pay for cable, satellite or fiber to watch TV. There are now many free TV stations available with a simple antenna. Please do not take any of those free stations away. Low-power TV stations that have operated in good faith and have complied with their license should be protected and kept on the air.

Comment: My name is Cara Burk. I appreciate the opportunity to watch free over-the-air television made available through low power television stations. I have come to understand that the FCC may make spectrum available to be auctioned, and some LPTV broadcasters may be forced off the air. The FCC must protect our local LPTV station. I should not be forced to pay for cable, satellite or fiber to watch TV. There are now many free TV stations available with a simple antenna. Please do not take any of those free stations away. It seems unthinkable that without LPTV stations, we would have to pay to even see the local news. Low-power TV stations that have operated in good faith and have complied with their license should be protected and kept on the air.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Cara Burk
