

Do not change or lower the standards. Protecting the innocence of children and society at large is important to all responsible persons, businesses and societies.