

I support making changes to the current FCC indecency standards. They're ridiculous and prudish as they are now. Relaxing the current policy is the right choice to make.