

Our children are inundated with sexually suggestive and profane words in media like television, radio and the internet leading the pack. Children are being raped, told to grow up too fast and it seems, just not allowed to be children anymore.

Please hold the line on keeping more sexually suggestive and profane words off television and radio. We, in my humble opinion, are already heading down the slippery slope and we see the damage this has already caused all around us.