

I am very disappointed to hear that you are considering rescinding the ban on using certain graphic words and full nudity on regular television and radio programs. I feel that we get enough exposure to vulgarities in this world without having to see or hear them every time we turn on the TV or radio.

I oppose any changes to the current FCC indecency standards that would allow television and radio stations to broadcast expletives and nudity on the public airwaves, even if brief or "fleeting."

The Supreme Court has confirmed the FCC's authority to enforce policies regarding expletives and nudity, especially during times when children are likely to be watching or listening.

Relaxing the current policy would not serve the public interest and I urge the FCC to reject all proposals that would allow for the broadcast of expletives and nudity on FCC-licensed stations.

Though I believe in everyone's right to free speech, decency and respect are quickly becoming a thing of the past due to the moral decay of this world. Do you want to be a part of that decay, or would you rather show that there is some decency left in this world?
