

Please do not remove the ban on explicit language and nudity for television and radio. There is too much anti-innocence in this world. It has become an inhospitable environment for children, a place where the needs and rights of young people are increasingly ignored, and lower standards of decency are increasingly embraced. Do not make it impossible for families to enjoy television and radio together, or for a child to turn on the T.V. unsupervised. It only takes a moment to leave a lasting and irreversible impression, to scar the mind of a child forever. Do not permit radio and T.V. to become as lawless as the Internet.
