

I became aware that you are considering dropping decency standards that ban explicit profanity and "non-sexual" nudity.

As a mother of already raised children, I still feel strongly about the content of our media. Our children must have standards to follow and as media has become such a major part of their lives I would appreciate you setting a respectable standard in regard to these issues.

Thank you for taking time to read about my concern.