

To Whom It May Concern:

I have just read your proposal to allow profane and vulgar language and behavior over the airwaves. Ladies and gentlemen, to say I am appalled is SUCH an understatement. Our children, even if exposed to such behavior at home or in their neighborhoods, are being taught to communicate in ways that do not allow such behavior or language. Moreover, they are punished if they use such language! How pathetic that I have to remind you - each of you - that you are the only guardian of the dignity of our communication and that of the coming generations. I would hope that you have more intelligence than to assume that foul language, nudity, pornographic content, and the objectifying of women will do this country - or this people - one whit of good. You have already allowed far too much already, in my opinion. Its enough. One more "bend", and your "tree" will snap like a dried twig and lose all control. Please rethink this position you seem ready to embrace. Our national dignity and the literal future of our people is in the balance.

Sincerely,

Joy Fletcher
