

I think the cable networks have enough leeway but the main channels and those that are views by children mostly should still have strictest restrictions on profanity and nudity. Has this nation lost its class?? What is so good and respectable about profanity and nudity anyway?? I do not even want to read a novel with all that garbage in it. There is plenty of words in the English language that could be used and people look better with some clothes on anyway no matter how great there body is. This has nothing to do with religion but decency and class. Please re-consider!