

As a Christian and a parent, I encourage the FCC to not change the current standards for television and radion broadcasting. We do not need explicit material available to kids during regular viewing and listening hours.

respectfully,

David Waddell