

In addition the copy paste below, I would include the need for more stringent regulations regarding profanity, nudity, violence, and intensity on the television and radio. I have found a drastic change in what is allowed and what is not allowed as time has passed. Just because "everyone is doing it" does not mean it is the right thing.

I believe that with increasing laxity, the media industry will lose more than it gains. I have definitely decreased my media usage because of offensive material designed to shock and awe. If the material is given more free reign, I will continue to decrease my usage accordingly.

I oppose any changes to the current FCC indecency standards that would allow television and radio stations to broadcast expletives and nudity on the public airwaves, even if brief or "fleeting."

The Supreme Court has confirmed the FCC's authority to enforce policies regarding expletives and nudity, especially during times when children are likely to be watching or listening.

Relaxing the current policy would not serve the public interest and I urge the FCC to reject all proposals that would allow for the broadcast of expletives and nudity on FCC-licensed stations.
