

I urge you to NOT drop the ban on the f-word and nudity, both on television and radio. I am strongly apposed to the ban being lifted. This would be a great detriment to children now and in the future. But more importantly, it also would go against what I believe as a born-again Christian. I want to continue to raise my children to show respect and to choose their words wisely. This would be greatly hindered by this ban being lifted. I am sure many other parents would agree as well, even if they weren't raising their children in a Christian home.
