

I am definitely against lowering the standards that are currently in force concerning cursing and nudity. Cursing shows the pure ignorance of the individual and nudity serves to feed the lust of people who are out of control concerning their actions. I support increasing the standards so that we can watch any program with our children without explaining curse words or body functions to them.