

I SUPPORT ANY AN ALL changes to the current FCC indecency standards that would allow television and radio stations to broadcast expletives and nudity on the public airwaves.

The US airwaves have long been controlled by the beliefs of anti-freedom organizations such as the American Family Foundation. It is long overdue for us to join the rest of the world (such as the UK), in having at least slightly relaxed restrictions around what's shown on our airwaves.

In the name of easy parenting, parents are opting to blind their children to the existence of words and imagery that they will, doubtless, encounter at some point in their lives. If they have never seen them before, never had the opportunity to discuss these ideas with their parents or other family, they will be unprepared and will be forced to act on zero knowledge of the subject. Ignorance has never served anyone's interests or ability to adapt to new environments or situations.

Teaching children that the narrow mindedness of a small segment of the population can control a nation is the wrong message to send. PLEASE DO NOT BEND TO THE AFA's email campaign.
