

It is a parents job to censor for their children, not the FCC's. I feel like that's the major issue that's argues against the removal of censorship. But we censor words that people hear everyday anyway, so what's the point of continuing to censor them on T.V.? It's totally redundant.