

I oppose any changes to the current FCC indecency standards that would allow television and radio stations to broadcast expletives and nudity on the public airwaves, even if brief or "fleeting."

The Supreme Court has confirmed the FCC's authority to enforce policies regarding expletives and nudity, especially during times when children are likely to be watching or listening.

Relaxing the current policy would not serve the public interest. Expletives and nudity are not needed for quality entertainment or information, there is no good reason to make this change and the damage could be devastating. I urge the FCC to reject all proposals that would allow for the broadcast of expletives and nudity on FCC-licensed stations.
