

I would like to express that I am in support of allowing less strict censorship in U.S. television, specifically dropping the ban on the f-bomb and partial nudity as is currently being reviewed.

My feelings are that if these are really such a hindrance to people's lives, they will find TV programs that do not use them to watch. We should be allowing free speech on the airwaves.

Thank you for your time reading this and reviewing these policies.