

I strongly oppose any loosening of the FCC rules regarding speech or nudity. If anything, the rules need to be tightened, not loosened.

Our country seems to be in a moral free-fall. What people consume on TV, movies and the internet contributes to the degradation of our children and our culture.

What does it benefit our country to become even more crass than we already are.

There is no upside here, unless you are being paid off.