

Please do not drop ban on the f-word, the s-word or frontal female nudity. It isn't a matter of whether or not my children will hear or see these things else where. They of course will be subject to these things as adults, but that is when it should happen. Kids are growing up to fast with disrespectful ideas already being used against teachers, government leaders and in the work force. If we as a people have any hope to end disrespect of women, bullying and violence, it starts in the home including things brought into the home. Screening by parents only goes so far. It takes the media being on board too.
