

I am totally against allowing foul language such as use of the "f", "s", and "mf" words and most importantly the casual expletives using the name of God and Jesus on public television. Not only is it in violation of what most parents with ethics, morals, and a spiritual life believe and don't want their children exposed to, but it also offensive to many without children. Frontal nudity is also offensive to many and desensitizes the enjoyment of sex in the marriage bed where it is intended and is blessed by God. Television programming is morally bankrupt enough. It needs to be cleaned up, not made worse!
