

I am opposed to the idea of reducing the standards for television. While I fully support free speech, I do not believe that broadcast television is an appropriate venue for airing nudity or expletives. Such forms of media are easily accessible online for those who seek it out; therefore I do not think it appropriate for broadcast television which can be "pushed" into people's homes.