

I am opposed to changes to the FCC indecency standards unless they are going more conservative. There is no place in society among adults and children alike for vulgar language and nudity. As far as I am concerned, our standards are lacking as is. There is no need for vulgar language or vulgar images of any kind to be a part of our commercials or television shows.