

In my travels to Europe, I have seen a gracious approach to nudity over violence on their airwaves. I believe that it's time for the USA's airwaves to start a transition in this direction. The puritan ideals of centuries past should really be updated to a more modern standard. A standard that isn't afraid of viewing a nude human form and, in any event, prefers it over a bloody one. Teaching children that the narrow mindedness of a small segment of the population can control a nation is the wrong message to send. PLEASE DO NOT BEND TO THE AFA's email campaign.
