

Please aid parents in sheltering their children to the degree they see fit from the profanity that is prevalent in our culture today. Do not let television, which so many children turn to for entertainment today, become a greater source of danger for corruption than it already is. Which is more important: money, or the integrity of our children's development? Our children will in turn shape our culture, and they are directly affected by the what they view on television. Let's keep it as clean as we can for them, and limit their access to profanity. Thank you for your time!
