

In an age when we have an over sexualized population, and decreasing morals I really feel dropping regulations on swearing and nudity is not the path we should take. I feel all this will do is harm future generations especially because this will also be aloud during hours children will be watching. We should be trying to increase the morals of our children and population not taking steps to ruin them even more.