

The thought of making the f-word and female frontal nudity ok on television during any hours as well as the word on radio is extremely offensive to me. The falling morality that this would encourage can not lead to any good in our country. There is no need to expose children to more expletives and nudity. I think some tolerance to good morals is needed in this country. I do not do society the disservice of inviting them into my house to watch me take a dump or look at my naked body and I do not think allowing that into my home uninvited is fair to me. If someone wants to hear and say that stuff they can find it on the internet in their home. do not taint the airwaves with it.
