

I think your indecency code should uphold values that encourage respect and goodwill. If this agency's fails in its responsibility and panders to greed & lust, the consequences can be catastrophic....media plays a huge role in education. Reading recent suicide cases largely due to media misuse only accentuates your role & responsibility. Everything needs a context for its meaning but by opening up media to use the f-word indiscriminately and making this act banal, profane and vulgar....take this profanity at face value, you could be encouraging pedophilia, rape, hate-speech, bullying, depression, etc. for a whole generation who has lost its meaning. Please find a way to promote and foster great art instead of opening up floodgates to profanity where meaning is lost!
