

I just tried to call Wells Fargo Dealer Services at 800-289-8004 and the phone was answered by "America's hottest talkline." I think this must be phone hijacking. I work for the federal government and am afraid I might lose my job over this!! I called the fraud department at Wells Fargo and notified them, but they said there is no way they can send me the results of whatever investigation they launch so I can document what really happened. Can you (FCC) help?
