

I oppose any changes to the current FCC indecency standards that would allow television and radio stations to broadcast expletives and nudity on the public airwaves, even if brief or "fleeting." Since the Supreme Court has confirmed the FCC's authority to enforce policies regarding expletives and nudity, especially during times when children are likely to be watching and listening, I believe relaxing the current policy would not serve the public interest. I urge the FCC to reject all of the proposals that would allow for the broadcast of expletives and nudity on FCC-licensed television and radio stations.
