

I am vehemently against any changes to the current FCC indecency standards that would allow TV and radio stations to broadcast expletives and nudity on the public airwaves.

The Supreme Court has confirmed the FCC's authority to enforce policies regarding expletives and nudity. Common sense and any kind of general decency would demand that children be protected during the hours they are most likely to watch TV.

Weakening the current policy would not serve the public interest and I urge the FCC to reject all proposals that would allow for the broadcast of expletives and nudity on FCC-licensed stations. Failure to do so will result in our family of four removing our 4 televisions from our house.
