

Regarding the relaxation of existing decency standards for broadcast television and radio, I am opposed to such measures and would request, if anything, that the commission tighten existing standards. I'm tired of listening to the offensive language being broadcast today under the guise of free speech.