

To those who have the power to make decisions concerning what our television stations may air:

I vehemently oppose any changes to the current FCC indecency standards that would allow television and radio stations to broadcast additional expletives, vulgarities and nudity on the any public airwaves, even if brief or ?fleeting.?

If anything, I believe they are too relaxed already. Children are seeing and hearing things they should not and too early for sound emotional development. I fear the start of marriage and family in 20 years in the USA.

The Supreme Court has confirmed the FCC?s authority to enforce policies regarding expletives and nudity, especially during times when children are likely to be watching or listening.

Relaxing the current policy would not serve the public interest and I urge the FCC to reject all proposals that would allow for the broadcast of additional expletives, vulgarities and nudity on FCC-licensed stations.

We must think of our future. We are already known world-wide for our immorality. Let's reverse the trend not embrace it.

Tamara Cortimilia
Teacher, Trinity School of Midland, Tx