

Please protect those who are too young to protect themselves in the public arena and keep the standards that are in place, or enforce even stricter standards (my preference).

There is no place for more nudity or indecency on the public air waves. Those who desire such content have paid internet, cable or dish programming. They can even go to the public library and surf the content they seek for free.

Let's keep the public airwaves free of such content. This infringes on nobody's rights as they have plenty of other venues to access this content.
