

I am strongly against your consideration of lowering the decency standards on TV by allowing the F-word and frontal nudity. I am actually kind of shocked that this is even being considered. Television is something that the general public should feel safe turning on, but it is becoming less so even without lowering standards further. Please allow those people who are demanding this to go elsewhere to satisfy their personal cravings. It saddens me that we may just have to disconnect all kind of TV in our home because it just isn't a safe thing for my children to be watching.
