

The TV commercials and primetime shows here in the United States are just getting worse and worse in regards to violence, nudity and profanity. We can't even allow our children to watch TV anymore. I can't imagine if things became more lax with the FCC. If anything it should be more strict! We wonder why there is more violence, more issues with pornography and more aggression towards women? Just watch TV during prime time for 1 hour and this will answer those questions. Can't we go back to the earlier years of restrictions where bellybuttons were not allowed to be seen on "I dream of genie?" or when "Oh goosh" was bad? Why expose our kids to more? Why do we continually allow more and more filth on TV to warp our children's minds. Enough is enough!
